

Are you ready to have a successful practice? Dr. Joseph Borio will show you how.

Are you one of the thousands of chiropractors struggling to open or grow a successful practice? Do you lack the knowledge or the funds on how to make your practice a profitable business? After practicing chiropractic for 20 years, I have seen too many doctors struggle, fail or never even get started.

The failure ends today! Chiropassion Consulting was started for one purpose, to help doctors open, grow, and operate a financially successful practice.

Why do you need a coach? A great coach will show you how to be successful and profitable, making you money this year and every year thereafter. A great coach will save you time, money and the stress from failure of trying to do it on your own. Unfortunately, most chiropractors think they already know how to own and run a practice, thinking failure won't happen to them. The reality is 75% of chiropractors fail in practice. As some of you have found out, most lending institutions will not even take the risk of loaning funds to open a chiropractic office.

How bad can it get? Recently I spoke with a doctor who has been working at Radio Shack trying to keep his practice open. He realized, like so many other chiropractors, having a degree and a space to rent does not bring success.

So what is the best way to open and grow your practice and improve your financial success? You need to hire a coach! Here is a perfect analogy, if you wanted to open a successful coffee shop would you just rent a space and hang a sign expecting to be successful? Or would you first want to study the success of Starbucks?

Now, there are a lot of other coaches out there with programs, so why am I your best choice for success?

First, unlike most coaches, I am still in practice. I own and operate one of the largest and most successful practices in the country. As a client, you will train directly with me in my office. When we work together you will not be required to sit in a seminar holding a manual watching a power point with me telling you what I do. Why, because I still do it everyday! You and everyone on your team will work and train with me and my staff. This is the easiest and fastest way to learn how to achieve a successful practice. I call it, "On the job success training."

Second, my success as a chiropractor comes from passion, hard work, business experience and a commitment to succeed. I carry these same principles into your coaching. You get my very best and will know immediately that I care as much about your practice as you do.

Finally, I only accept a limited number of doctors each year. This means I have the time to spend with each of you ensuring you learn the skills and procedures it takes to be profitable. My goal is not to be the biggest consulting firm out there, but rather to be the best.

I am seeking a few more motivated and committed chiropractors to join me now! We only have a few positions remaining for the coming year so contact us today by calling Chiropassion Consulting, toll free at 866-441-7928 or www.chiropassionconsulting.com

If you are accepted, we will begin the best, most successful program out there. So whether you are a new practice start-up or you have been in practice for 25 years, know if you are committed to succeed, I can help you. For those doctors who need financial support, we provide any necessary funding with no money upfront. Join me now and learn how to make your practice grow!
